Objective: The objective of the Electrician Training Program, organized jointly by Havells India Ltd. and G.D. Goenka University, was to enhance the technical knowledge, practical skills, and professional competencies of electricians. The program aimed to promote awareness of electrical safety, proper installation and maintenance practices, the selection and application of electrical equipment, and the adoption of modern electrical technologies. It also sought to encourage continuous skill development, improve the quality and reliability of electrical work, and strengthen industry–academia collaboration through expert-led technical sessions and interactive knowledge-sharing activities.

Brief overview of the event: The Electrician Training Program was organized jointly by Havells India Ltd. and G.D. Goenka University on 8th and 9th October 2026 at Ashirbad Guest House, Bagnan, and Utsav Bhaban, Barasat, respectively. Mr. Suwendu Mondal, Assistant Professor, Department of Electrical Engineering, was invited as a Guest Speaker to share his technical expertise and industry-oriented knowledge with the participants. More than 150 electricians participated across both venues. The program focused on electrical safety, installation and maintenance practices, the proper use of electrical equipment, and recent developments in electrical technology. The sessions encouraged interactive learning and professional knowledge-sharing, enabling participants to enhance their technical skills and awareness of safe electrical practices. The enthusiastic participation and positive feedback from the electricians reflected the success of the initiative in promoting skill development and strengthening industry–academia collaboration.

Outcome: The Electrician Training Program successfully enhanced the technical awareness and professional knowledge of more than 150 electricians across the two venues. The participants gained valuable insights into electrical safety, proper installation and maintenance practices, the effective use of electrical equipment, and modern developments in the electrical sector. The interactive sessions encouraged knowledge-sharing and helped participants strengthen their practical understanding of electrical systems. The enthusiastic participation and positive feedback from the attendees reflected the effectiveness of the program. The initiative also strengthened industry–academia collaboration between Havells India Ltd., G.D. Goenka University, and academic professionals, promoting continuous skill development, safe working practices, and improved professional competency among electricians.
